Dear Ms./Mr. Manager's name,

My name is Cindy Liu, and I'm a tech-savvy manager looking to flex my talents to identify new growth strategies for Corelight as a Junior Data Analyst. I've always been fascinated by numbers, and working in data analytics has been a long-term goal of mine. My career in the restaurant business has taught me to think strategically about problems and identify solutions. I believe this experience has prepared me for Corelight's Junior Data Analyst role.

Your job posting mentioned that you're looking for an analyst with experience in SQL, proficiency in a statistical programming language, and strong time management skills. During my previous role as a restaurant manager, I had to multitask to balance the needs of the company (revenue) and the customer (service and quality standard). I've also been pursuing my passion for data, both at work and in my spare time. Over the past year, I've been able to achieve the following:

- Automated repetitive restaurant payroll and accounting tasks with Python, freeing up three hours per week
- Completed a case study using point-of-sales data from the restaurant to optimize our menu and pricing, leading to a revenue increase of 10 percent
- Completed the Google Data Analytics Professional Certificate, which included extensive coursework in both SQL and R

Im thrilled at the opportunity to use these experiences to fuel data-driven decisions at Corelight, and I'm keen to continue developing my skill set on the job. I am available for a Zoom call or in-person meeting to discuss how I can help Corelight with improving market product performance through data.

Thank you for your consideration,

Daniel Querales, Data Analyst
